ABSTRACT

This proposal presents a practical need for a sustainable Internship management system in higher institutions of learning. It includes three main chapters. The first chapter has the general introduction which points out key concepts of the study; it gives a detailed description of the problem, it spells out the main goal of the research and the underlying specific objectives to achieve the research goal. Chapter two (Literature Review) presents documented evidence and ideas from other researchers' works that are relevant to the project's context. Chapter three is the methodology which addresses the methods, procedures, tools and techniques the researcher will use to archive the project objectives
